"WOMAN I LOVE" TOUCHES ENGLAND'S SOIL

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are seen as they walk out of their temporary home in Sunningdale, Eng., on their first morning in England. It's the first visit of the Duchess to England after their marriage 10 years ago. They are staying at Ednam lodge, Sunningdale, lent to them by their friend, the Earl of Dudley, for their two-months stay in the country.

October Popular For Weddings

ATKINSON — EAMOR

A pretty fall wedding of much interest here was solemnized at Central United church, Calgary, at 7:45 p.m. on Saturday, October 19, when Madeleine June, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Eam, or, Ensign, became the bride of Mr. Gale Vernon Atkinson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Atkinson, Vulcan. Rev. C. A. Lawson officiated.

To the strains of the wedding march, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a floor-length gown of white silk net over satin, with which she wore a chapel veil. Her only ornament was a locket which was worn by her great-grandmother, and her shower bouquet was of American beauty roses.

Miss Doris Campbell of Claresholm, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and she chose a gown of shell pink net over satin. She wore a shoulder length veil and a head-dress of pink carnations. Her arm bouquet was also of carnations.

Mr. Kenneth Ferguson attended the groom as best man, while the ushers were Mr. Cameron Campbell and Mr. Glen Eam, cousins of the bride. During the signing of the register, Miss Norma Mollenberg of Herrington, sang "Dearest Of All."

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for 50 guests was held at the Palliser Hotel. Receiving with the bridal couple were Mrs. Eam and Mrs. Atkinson. Mrs. Eam chose a grey ensemble with which she wore black accessories. Her corsage was of Sweetheart roses. The groom's mother was smart in green, with black accessories. She also wore a corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Larson and Mrs. Thompson, grandmothers of the bride and groom, presided at the tea urns.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tiered wedding cake, which was decorated with a wine glass containing baby mums. Bouquets of carnations and mums and tall tapers in pink and white were effectively used in the decorating scheme.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Ferguson, the best man, and was suitably responded to by the groom. Mr. Bill Law offered a toast to the happy couple to which Mr. Archie McIntyre responded.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson left for a honeymoon in Seattle and Spokane. The bride changed to a brown dressmaker suit over which she wore a muskrat coat, a gift of the groom. Her corsage was of Sweetheart roses surrounding an orchid. Upon their return the young couple will make their home in Vulcan.

HOWARD — CRICK

The marriage of Claudia Madalyn, eldest daughter of Mr. and

SHAW — GERDING

Of interest to the Vulcan district is the wedding which took place at St. Andrew's church at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 22 when Margaret Geraldine daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gerding, became the bride of Mr. Louis Edward Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaw of Vulcan. Rev. Father Ritter officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of traditional white satin, slightly entrain, and with slight bustle effect. The sweetheart neckline was accentuated by a string of pearls and her knee length veil was held in place by a cap of white net with gold sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Miss Bernice Shaw, the bridesmaid, was in turquoise blue face with matching hat, and her flowers were talisman roses. Mr. Arnold Gerding, brother of the bride, was best man, and Mrs. J. W. Gerding Jr., played the wedding music.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. J. Gerding chose a navy crepe afternoon dress and wore a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Shaw wore a two-piece dress of black and her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for immediate relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gerding, where the bride's table was tastefully decorated and centred with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake. Rev. Father Ritter proposed the toast to the bride and as it was also the occasion of the groom's birthday, the toasts were happily concluded by all singing "Happy Birthday." For travelling the bride chose a grey pin-stripe wool suit with black accessories, topped by a turquoise coat. Her corsage was of pink roses.

After a short honeymoon the young couple will make their home on the groom's farm west of Vulcan.

HANSEN — JENSEN

A quiet wedding took place at Nanton on Saturday, Oct. 26th, when Ida May, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jensen of Parkland, became the bride of Trevor Corten Hansen, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hansen of Parkland.

Ronald Hansen, brother of the groom, acted as best man and Mrs. Verna Jensen, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. The ceremony was held at the manse of Rev. William MacLuskie, who performed the ceremony.

After a short honeymoon the young couple will reside on the groom's farm northeast of Parkland.

Mrs. J. W. Crick, and John Stevens Howard, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Howard of Banff, took place at Nanton on October 12th. Mr. Howard is a wireless operator in the permanent airforce and has been posted to Clinton, Ont.

Resolutions Discussed at Annual Municipal Convention, Edmonton

Representatives From Alberta Municipalities Join in Convention to Discuss Affairs. Resolutions Presented

At the convention of the Union of Alberta Municipalities held in Edmonton last week, a number of resolutions were brought before the delegates.

One related to uniform hours of work and closing hours. Delegates favored legislation that would give farmers adequate shopping hours, but would also conform to reasonable hours for clerks.

The convention urged that the Mothers' Allowance Act be amended, with the Alberta government to pay allowances to mothers and families where the head of the house is in jail, and to accept responsibility for care and support of divorced mothers with children.

Municipalities also want power of control over erection of temporary buildings built for a family while the main house is being built. Another resolution asked the government to devise regulations controlling erection of buildings near town and villages that might later become part of the town and villages.

The controversy over Dominion-Provincial taxation rights and a resolution urged the establishment of a commission to deal with the matter as its effects municipal taxation. Delegates felt that the increase in Social Service Service and Educational requirements by the Provincial and Dominion governments resulted in an increased tax rate to the municipalities.

The wartime eight per cent tax on gas and electric light accounts was introduced by the Ponoka delegate, who felt that the termination of the war should bring the cancellation of this war-time tax by the provincial government. The meeting favored resolutions calling upon the provincial government to assume a greater share of the educational costs and to make allowances to municipalities sufficient to cover the cost of municipal services.

Twenty-two resolutions were considered by the 100 delegates present at this forty-second annual convention. At the election of officers for the ensuing year, Mayor A. W. Shackleford of Lethbridge, was chosen as president with E. H. Tucker of Edson, retiring president, elected to the position of Honorary President. Mayor A. E. Dunkey of Olds and Alderman A. C. Black of Medicine Hat were elected first and second vice-presidents respectively. J. H. Galbraith of Ponoka will continue to serve as secretary-treasurer. The 1947 convention will be held in Lethbridge.

Remembrance Day Public Holiday

The government's announcement that Remembrance Day is again to become a statutory holiday has been greeted with satisfaction by all ex-service men and women throughout the country.

A legal holiday in Canada since 1920, when it was known as Armistice Day, November 11 was officially designated Remembrance Day in 1931. During the recent war it was temporarily suspended as a statutory holiday, along with Sundays, Easter Monday and Victoria Day. Now, largely thanks to the efforts of the Canadian Legion, it is back on the list of ten legal holidays, apart from Sundays, which the Dominion government has set aside for observance—New Year's Day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, Labour Day, Thanksgiving Day, Remembrance Day, Christmas Day and the day designated for observance of the King's birthday.

The actual observance of any Dominion-designated holiday is up to the provincial governments and none of the ten statutory holidays need be observed in any province unless specifically proclaimed by the lieutenant-governor, who may also proclaim any other day a holiday which is so designated by provincial statute.

It is expected that the proclamation will be made by the lieutenant-governor in all provinces and practically every centre of population is making plans for a Remembrance Day service to honor those who fell in the war. The service in Vulcan is being sponsored by the Canadian Legion and will be held in the Vulcan theatre at 10:30 a.m., November 11th.

Heavy Snowfall Stops Harvesting

The heavy snowfall of last Friday put a complete stop to all harvesting operations in the district just as most farmers were finishing up. Fine weather the week preceding the storm allowed much of the delayed harvesting to be done and only a small percentage of the crop remains unharvested in the immediate district. North of Vulcan there are many hundreds of acres of wheat still in the swath or standing in the fields.

Depth of the snowfall varied throughout the district from 15 to 23 inches, with the heaviest fall reported south and west of town.

Auction Sales Now Starting

Fall auction sales are off to a delayed start, with three sales being scheduled for the first week in November.

A sale of household furnishings and equipment will be sold at the home of Mrs. W. A. Schenck on Saturday, Nov. 2, with J. E. Ginter as auctioneer.

C. M. Allen will be auctioneer in charge of the sale of livestock, machinery and furniture at the farm of John Magnusson, Armada, on Tuesday, Nov. 5. The place of the sale is 2½ miles north and 2½ miles east of Armada and the starting time is 11 a.m.

On Wednesday, Nov. 6, Auctioneer J. E. Ginter will sell a full line of machinery, livestock and household effects, the property of J. W. Cain, Champion, at the farm, 4½ miles east and 4½ miles north of Champion. This sale also starts at 11 a.m.

Auctioneer C. M. Allen has announced that he will conduct a regular monthly auction sale at his auction sale lot immediately south of the Vulcan school. These sales will be held the second Saturday in each month, the first sale being on Saturday, Nov. 16.

Skating Rink For Kiddies

With a view to encourage the smaller children to learn how to skate, the Lions Club is making arrangements to construct an outdoor skating rink at the site of the old upper tennis courts near the swimming pool. Here the kiddies will be able to take their bumps and falls without danger of the larger children or adults running into them. It will serve, too, as a recreation spot for the pre-school age children.

Work on the rink will start soon and it will be flooded with water from the swimming pool water system. Constable Jack Hurst is in charge of the project, plans for which were completed at the last Lions Club meeting on the 25.

The Lions charter night will be observed on Tuesday, Nov. 26, when a banquet and dance will be held in the I.O.O.F. hall.

What's Doing In Other Towns

The live Nanton Board of Trade at a recent meeting decided to sponsor a public meeting at which the proposed water and sewage systems for the town of Nanton will be discussed and explained. The Board of Trade is also boosting for a community memorial hall and installation of colored lights on the streets for Christmas and other seasons.

At Stavelly, everyone in town is a booster for the Elks' Carnival, held there last week-end. The honor of carnival queen was competed for by entrants sponsored by the businessmen, the farmers and the Canadian Legion.

Claresholm residents' thoughts are already turning towards hockey and reorganization of the Claresholm Clippers team is taking place. And a new bowladrome is opening there on Nov. 1.

At the growing town of High River the recent Rotary Carnival raised about $1,000 for the Highwood Memorial Centre fund. And the Times records that Dr. Harold Soby left High River about one o'clock one afternoon, flew to the Taber locality, met other hunters with trucks there, bagged his antelope and was back in High River by 6:30 p.m. That's streamlined hunting!

THE HOME OF TOMORROW

ABOUT that home of tomorrow which is to be all glass and go round and round on a pivot to catch the sun—it is too much. Even a little of it would be too much. Most people have not yet caught up on the home of the day-before-yesterday that they've been wanting for years. In homes, as in other things, people want what they want rather than what is good for them, and the more time and attention a thing demands the more it is cherished.

One woman, for example, yearns for a house with green outside slat shutters. She says the only way the morning sun is acceptable is when it filters greenly into one's consciousness through slat shutters. She doesn't hold with sunshine in vast violent quantity.

Another wants a house with an attic so big that another trunk may always be found in some dark corner, the kind of attic that never gets completely explored. In case of mysteriously missing articles you can always say they're probably in the attic. And that is good for hours of hunting, during which so many interesting things are found that the original objective is forgotten.

Another woman wants one of these unreasonable houses, the kind that happen in a series of afterthoughts, with steps up and steps down, jogs in the hall, little unexpected solitary corners. Her house will sprawl and be thoroughly inconvenient and joyful.

There are of course, the ultra moderns who dream of homes where you stand in the centre, press buttons, and everything comes to you; where the whirr of the master vacuum, removes all litter and human spoor; where there are no hidden holes, no dust catchers, no mysteries. But mostly the women who dream of such functional perfections are thinking of a home as a place in which to change clothes, sleep and perhaps eat. But not a place for living in. Their thought is maximum order with minimum attention. They do not think of home-making as a full time job.

That seems to be the trend of the home of tomorrow. So efficient, so fitted with labor savers that no healthy, vigorous woman can possibly think of it as a full-time job. Perhaps tomorrow the wheels of industry may be turning so fast that mother will still be needed on the night shift. But on the other hand it may suddenly be desirable to get women back into the homes. There may be a great drive for children, maternal influence, stable home atmosphere and such old fashioned influences.

If the home of tomorrow is too complete, too perfect it will be stripped of challenge, deadly uninteresting. Leave it a few quirks, inconveniences and whims, and it will be a joy and lament to the home-keeper; still the sterling topic of conversation that has carried her along through all the generations. If the idea is to keep mother in the home, proud of her job, and feeling she is pulling her weight, then give her a house big enough that she can spend a whole day searching for something she hasn't laid eyes on for the past ten years.

And perhaps in planning the home of tomorrow it might be a good plan to consult the children to whom "home" should mean something special. What is the home of their dreams. Will their first call be for more gadgets, or will it be for space and their own private retreats?

Pertinent Topics

Discussed by H.C.

Political prognostications: 1—Beginning Nov. 6th, a sharp decline in the intensity of American interest in the Palestine issue. 2—Subsidence of Fenian antagonism to England which started seven centuries ago, and bursts into flame every two years. 3—Gradual and careful untwisting of the lion's tail.

Trygve Lie, general secretary of the United Nations, owes his position to Soviet influence. He pays a first instalment on the debt by demanding that the U.N. throw out the Franco government of Spain.

We are urged by no less an authority than Sumner Welles to stop talking about war. If talking about war tends to produce war it might be advisable to stop talking about polio as well.

There may be something in what Mr. Welles says, just the same. What topic is more fruitful of conversation than the weather? People talk about it every day and every hour of the day, and what do we have? Nothing but weather from one year's end to another.

The impulse that made Goering and other Nazi criminals seek death by suicide was natural enough. Shakespeare makes Brutus in similar plight say:

Our enemies have beat us to the pit;
It is more worthy to leap in ourselves,
Than tarry till they push us.
And Brutus in the estimation of Mark Antony, was the noblest Roman of them all.

The day after the recent bye-elections, a C.B.C. broadcaster announced that, following his usual custom after bye-elections, the Prime Minister declined to comment on the results. Neither one added the words "When they are unfavorable," without which the record is incomplete and misleading. When they were favorable the P.M.'s ready comment was that they showed continued confidence in his government.

Solon Low, M.P. leader of the Social Credit party federally, observed that Canadians are becoming Communist-minded. Many, who would resent being called by that name, or being accused of belonging to that party show their inclinations unmistakably, and it can fairly be said that the S.C. party is the only one that does not cater to that vote. The C.C.F., coy maiden, rejects an offer of marriage, with the roughneck while displaying her charms and offering attractions no other can match.

An Eastern Presbytery recently passed a resolution deploring so much unfriendly talk about Russia. If there was a dissenting voice 't was not heard outside the room. This is about as far as the brethren can go at the moment and it cramps their style to be so lenient with what they call the forces of reaction. They will hit their stride later when they feel they can afford to. They have not changed their minds. Their opinions are the same as those they brought to the study groups. Espionage evidence did not affect them in the least.

It must grieve Mr. Churchill to note what is happening in communized Yugoslavia. In the strain of war, he and Roosevelt had to, or thought they had to, sacrifice Mikhalovitch for Tito. They were hard-pressed. So too was Stalin but even so he lost no chance to press harder upon his allies, claiming everything he could for Russia and yield nothing, not even recognition of obligation, not to speak of the tribute of gratitude. Mr. Roosevelt is not here to share with his fellow victim the humiliation of an ally's perfidy.

Mrs. D. Greenlee, Mrs. F. Watts and Mrs. B. Hummel entertained at the tea hour on Friday at the home of the former, in compliment to Mrs. I. Ditto. An exquisite corsage of tiny pink rose buds was presented to the guest of honor by the hostesses and a dainty lunch was served at the close of the pleasant afternoon.

It must grieve him, too, that Russian delegates should show so little gratitude for another concession he and Roosevelt made in yielding on the veto question as "a last assurance to a government power that they should not be voted down on a matter on which they were prepared to fight." That tells the story. The Soviets played the baby to get the veto. With the veto they can misuse the power it gives them and play the bully. Items From Bob Edwards' Inimitable "Eye Opener"

In the High River Eye Opener of August 8, 1903, Bob Edwards starts out breezily with a few choice extracts from the pen of Peter McGonigle of the Midnapore Gazette. Some of these indicate that in his way Peter McGonigle is a profound man. Bob Edwards takes a few more swipes at the inefficiency or worse of the Calgary police, but a matter of great rejoicing to him is the verdict of the Privy Council that Lord's Day Profanation Acts of Canada are invalid. The editor thinks the time has come for a little refreshing outdoor exercise on the Sabbath instead of marching round all day in trappings of woe.

High River Eye Opener, Aug. 8, 1903

Called From Midnapore Gazette
The editor of the Eye Opener is indebted to the Midnapore Gazette
for these breezy tit-bits;

Bill Simpson a talented local farmer was in town Wednesday with a nice load of hay. He says he has lots more loads like that.

George Spinks was out buggy riding in charming company on Sunday. Are you serious George?

A rumor is afloat that one of our most pushing young men is about to lead to the altar one of the fairest flowers of Bruce county. This accounts for that new cabin.

Jonesy, you sly dog!

In his sermon Sunday, Rev.
Johnson referred to the tremendous strain put on the brains of editors to keep up with the times.
There is hardly a night that we don't go home with our head in a whirl and our mind in chaos. Yet how few people think of this when they pick up a copy of our paper.

It is reported that when we get a province and a department of agriculture, the first act will be to establish cooking schools here and there. And none too soon, if the population is to be preserved.

The members of the political star chamber of Macleod should take a wash in the remarkably neat baths erected by Mr. Anderton. For years Macleod has been without a bath either for honest men or the grimy political rabble.

Cardinal Sarto has at last been elected Pope and will take the name of Pius X. Okotoks is disconsolate. Its money was on Rampollo.

The statement attributed to W.
R. Hull that he intended purchasing the late pontiff's papal bulls for his range in order to improve his breed, is without any foundation.

Those Calgary Police

No matter how hot the summer
may be it cannot be depended upon to melt down the crooks in Calgary.
Since nothing can be expected from the police, the board of trade might take the matter up. Complaint after complaint is lodged to the police-by men just robbed, but nothing is done. In the absence of direct proof of complicity between police and crooks, attack is sheer waste of time. Newcomers who arrive as prospective settlers—innoc-

Forming is A Business

In Western Canada, today farming is a business, and if a farmer is to make a success of it, it must be based on business principles. It may have been unnecessary for the prairie farmer of 40 years ago to keep books, but today it is a different story.

The modern farmer has a greater capital investment than had his predecessor. He borrows more money, and risks more money and credit; he buys more expensive machinery and equipment; his operating costs are higher; and soil fertility is lower. The chances of his making wrong decisions, which may lead to severe losses, are therefore much greater. In these circumstances it has become imperative for the farmer to develop the efficiency of his farming by every means available to him.

Many activities of the modern farmer contribute to the efficiency and success of his business. One of the most important of these is the keeping of accurate and fairly complete farm accounts. A business without bookkeeping may be compared to a watch without hands.
It may go, but there is no way of telling how well or how badly.

If farm accounts are properly kept and analyzed, they will eventually lead to a better understanding of the whole farming enterprise,
and in this way to continual improvements, greater efficiency and higher profits. Farmers will be amply rewarded for the time spent on keeping books.

A farm account book, especially adapted to the keeping of simple records, can be obtained free of charge, from any Line Elevator company or agent, or by writing to cent folk with a roll of money—are waylaid at the depot or the hotel by Confidence men and such birds of prey. Unless Calgary cleans up, the country is going to lose good people and get a very bad name. What is the use of a 50,000 club if people get neatly robbed within 24 hours of coming to town.

Mooring Round in Black

This week the Lord's Day Profanation Acts in all the provinces of Canada have been declared void by the Privy Council of the Empire. There is now no other earthly appeal. The Privy Council is the highest mortal judiciary, the only one higher being the one before which we must all appear when we kick the bucket.

There is now happily nothing to prevent the boys from indulging in a little baseball, cricket, polo or such rational forms of recreation on the Sabbath. Of course we do not recommend unseemly action anywhere in the vicinity of church grounds. But we think that it would be admitted by all but the narrowest bigots, that this unhappy custom of mooring about in black clothes and long faces as the best way of keeping the Sabbath is honest rot. Sunday was intended as a day of rest for people who work hard during the week.
Indulgence in healthful outdoor pursuits is restful. Nor need it materially affect church attendance. There are always people anxious to hear how the Israelites crossed the Red Sea thousands of years ago. There are always people who find inspiration in a good church service. But there are other hours of the Sabbath which would lend themselves to honest pleasure in outdoor action rather than mooring about in trappings of woe in a state of complete idleness and mental vacuity.

Dairy Cows Crossing the Line

(From Financial Post)

In the last five years Canadian dairymen have shipped scores of thousands of milk cows to the United States. Had these cows been kept at home and their milk manufactured into butter, there would have been no acute shortage of the latter product. On the contrary there has been a continuous shortage and now we are told that the ration must be cut again.

We are not advocating an embargo on the export of dairy cattle. Embargoes are drastic measures, and in the end often prove a boomerang to those who expected to benefit.

The market for Canadian dairy cattle in the United States is of almost vital importance to Canadian dairymen. It gives them a highly profitable sideline, and it encourages them to breed more and better dairy animals as they are assured of a lucrative outlet
for any surplus.

Farm Wife Value Set at $100,000

(From New York Times)
The sunrise of the atomic age has not obliterated sheer stark courage. George A. Pond, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Minnesota, has the bedrock fortitude that enables a David to face a fearsome adversary. He has calculated that a farmer's wife, if a good one, is worth $69,000. In the course of his work, Professor Pond asked farm account keepers to tell him how much their wives co-operated in running their farms. It was revealed that those who said the "co-operation of the wife was the keynote" made an average of $2,760 a year more than the group that reported their wives "did not co-operate extensively." Thus, if a farmer had an investment that would bring him $2,760 at 4 per cent, he'd need $69,000. Therefore, if there's anything in logic, a farm wife is worth that sum.

It seems to us that this is a conservative figure. Without going into the question of how one would determine the value of city and suburban wives, $2,760 a year is a modest sum for a lady who runs a house, takes care of children looks after the chickens, heats the milk and bottle-feeds orphan lambs, helps in the garden, makes pie enough so a man can have a piece for breakfast, bakes beans every Saturday, and is willing to make home-made biscuits with the fact that she understands that a man wants fried potatoes for supper five nights a week, and the professor's arithmetical conclusion is far too low. We would make it a flat $100,000 without quibbling.

There is no reason why the housewife should accept diseased or misshapen potatoes, as these vegetables are now graded for public use, and the grade may be specified on the bag.

These Errors In Printing

Sometimes newspaper offices cannot escape the thought that a mischievous little devil lurks in the machines, adding or distorting letters, pulling out words to make the story ridiculous. The Times is frequent victim of these little devils, as our readers know full well. A misplaced letter has been our undoing many a time.

But all newspapers suffer the same embarrassment, and the Readers' Digest in the October issue, quoted an example from a small Connecticut weekly which will appeal to all of us.

This little paper in March 22 issue printed the ad—
"For Sale—Slightly used farm wench, in good condition. Very handy. Phone 366, R2, A. Cartwright."

Apparently there were repercussions when the advertiser protested the use of "wench" for winch. So in March 29 issue came the meek correction as follows:
"Correction—Due to an unfortunate error, Mr. Cartwright's ad. last week was not clear. He has an excellent winch for sale. We trust this will put an end to jokes, who have called Mr. Cartwright and greatly bothered his housekeeper, Mrs. Hargreaves who loves with him."

Then in the next issue came the final blowup from Mr. Cartwright. He expressed himself thus—"Notice—My W-I-N-C-H is not for sale. I put a sledgehammer to it. Don't bother calling 366 R2 any more. I had the phone taken out. I am NOT carrying on with Mrs. Hargreaves. She merely L-I-V-E-S here."

Soapless Soap British Aim

Manufacture of "soapless soap" on a big scale may be Britain's answer to a shortage of normal washing agents which recently brought a one-seventh cut in the country's already-meagre soap ration.

An inter-departmental committee has been appointed to plan expanded production of soap substitutes, including provision of more raw materials, in the belief the world fat shortage may mean that soap is scarce for several years.

Fatty alcohols which, like soap, enter minute cracks in the skin and pry out dirt are used in some soap substitutes, but some of the raw materials from which they are made are scarce. Other substitutes were developed on the continent during the war and might prove easier to make and cheaper.

Lack of soap is one of the housewife's serious post-war problems. The reduced monthly ration provides each member of a family with nine ounces of toilet soap or soap flakes and four ounces of laundry soap.

Rescue Wheat

Rescue is a new variety of hard red spring wheat resistant to wheat stem sawfly attack. It was developed from the cross Apex x S-615, and produced by the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current.

In each of the past five years Rescue has been compared with the standard varieties under severe infestations of sawfly in five different nurseries. On the average, in these tests, only 7 per cent of the stems of Rescue were cut by sawfly, whereas 72 per cent of those of Apex were cut.

In tests conducted in the sawfly area of Western Canada (the brown and dark soils of Saskatchewan and Alberta) Rescue has given the following results. Under severe sawfly infestations it has yielded more than any of the standard varieties. Furthermore, in the absence of sawfly damage, Rescue has yielded more than Apex and Marquis and only slightly less than Thatcher. Outside of the sawfly area Rescue has, however, performed poorly, yielding less than the standard varieties and being much weaker in the straw.

In maturity Rescue is intermediate between Thatcher and Marquis. It is resistant to stem rust but susceptible to leaf rust and covered smut (bunt) and moderately susceptible to root rot.

The most serious defect of Rescue is that it is not equal to Marquis in baking quality. For this reason it will not be graded higher than No. 3 Northern. Nevertheless, within the sawfly area, Rescue may be expected to eliminate, almost entirely, the heavy annual losses in yield from sawfly.

Increase fields of Rescue produced excellent yields in 1946. As a result substantial quantities of seed are now available for distribution. All applications for Rescue wheat should be made at once to the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Saskatchewan.

Redman Wheat

Redman, a new hard red spring wheat bred for the rust area of Western Canada (Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan), was developed from the cross Regent x Canus made at the Dominion Laboratory of Cereal Breeding, Winnipeg, which is part of the Cereal Division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. This Division is now increasing seed of Redman for later distribution.

The main wheats at present grown in the rust area are Regent and Thatcher. Regent is resistant to stem rust and bunt or stinking smut; and moderately resistant to leaf rust loose smut, black chaff and root rot; but does not possess enough drought resistance to give high yields under conditions of prolonged heat or drought. Thatcher is resistant to stem rust, loose smut, black chaff and root rot; susceptible to leaf rust and bunt; and possesses considerable drought resistance.

Redman is resistant to stem rust, bunt and black chaff; and is somewhat more resistant than Regent to leaf rust loose smut, root rot and drought.

The new variety, Redman, is much like Regent in general appearance and height, but is somewhat more rugged with stronger straw. It is less subject to breaking of straw and shattering of grain than Regent and is expected to be a satisfactory variety for combining. Redman matures about one day later than Regent and one day earlier than Thatcher.

In field tests conducted in Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan in 1943, 1944 and 1945, Redman outyielded both Regent and Thatcher. Further west it has on the average yielded more than Regent but less than Thatcher.

Redman has high milling and baking quality and will be graded equal to Marquis.

The lack of baling wire is seriously hampering movement of hay. This is one of the steel strike consequences.

BOB EDWARDS' FAMOUS HIGH RIVER "EYE OPENER"

In the High River Eye Opener of May 30, 1902, Bob Edwards surveys the local scene with satisfaction. High River is known the world over as the Garden of Eden. Spring round-up in action. An all-time high in immigration to the west is reached in 1902, with settlers arriving by the trainload. Then as a dark touch on the idyllic scene, he mentions Mademoiselle Rho who is reaping a harvest out of Calgary suckers.

(High River Eye Opener, May 30, 1902)

The High River school is harassed for action with Mr. Buswell in charge. Dan Riley succeeds Mr. Baird as trustee.

Alex. Thompson has enlarged the cubic contents of his store by moving the stair case to the outside of the building. Trivial of course, but sign of increasing business.

This spring Shorty McLaughlin threshed out 5000 bushels of high quality oats. Walter Wake bought it for sheep feed.

The Calgary Brewing Company plans to put in a large plant at Lethbridge. The C.P.R. has got tired of packing beer to that thirsty town and earnest efforts are now being put forth to get Mr. Sengram to move his distillery to High River, the storm centre of the trade.

One who visited High River in search of land a week ago after a number of well-to-do Americans exploring the country from here to Edmonton, have come back to east in their lot with the Garden of Eden, otherwise known as the world over Macleod and up to High River and Sheen Creek. From Lethbridge to Clareholm, George White is High River.

Mrs. James Leighton arrived unexpectedly from Dakota on Monday morning's train. Mrs. Leighton is a grim looking piece of goods. Her husband at one time and is now lurking in the foothills. His mail and grub are being packed in by an Indian.

Spring Round Up

The spring round-up meets at the mouth of Mosquito Creek and will start work from Rattlesnake Bottom 8 miles below the CC fence on the Big Bow. They will work as far south as Lethbridge, back to the mouth of Mosquito Creek, and Charles Anderson CC foreman, from there to Sheep Creek.

Immigration 1902

The general impression that Alberta has entered a period of great prosperity is backed by facts

The tide of immigration for 1902, has already set in with great vigor; in fact there has been scarcely a perceptible break in the influx since 1900.

They have been arriving in Calgary by ones and twos and scores every month during the present winter. This month they are coming in by the carload, and Alberta is going to see its biggest influx for the past 20 years. All trains going north from Calgary are crowded, while those returning from the north carry little but commercial travellers on their rounds.

Early in the year the C. and E. Land Co. raised price of land contiguous to the railway from $3 to $3.50 and $4 per acre. Last week the C.P. Land Dept. announced similar increase in C.P.R. land. Half-breed scrip is selling at $2.75 per acre.

Mademoiselle Rho

That most colossal of all fakes, Mlle. Rho, the palmist, has been sewing up the easy propositions of Calgary in Room 37 of the Alberta hotel. We enjoy seeing Calgary, a town of imperfectly educated and sparsely travelled suckers, being taken for a big blow of a calibre likely to be found at an up country fair. It may eventually impress upon them that they are only common garden chumps. Any smooth guy, a man or woman, can strike Calgary at any given moment, and make a killing. The Rho dame was in Edmonton and did well. She is a smart young woman, possessed of the true old Chicago South Clark St. method of jollying the populace out of one dollar a head. Even R. B. Bennett and Jerry Boyce, neither of them celebrated as suckers, fell into the meshes.

She is the worst fake at present operating in the territory.

Cost of Electric Power In Rural Areas of Alberta

Users in Served Areas Are Enthusiastic But Initial Cost Is Not Cheap

Since rural electrification is of great interest in this district an article in the Farm and Ranch Review is of interest. It is from statements of Bruce Martin of Olds to the Agricultural Institute of Canada in Calgary.

The cost of power in the Calgary Power Company's rural electrification projects is $5 minimum per month, covering the first 20 k. w. h., and two cents per k. w. h. for each k. w. h. over 20 per month. This company makes an initial charge of $100 from each farm toward the cost of constructing the lines. In Canadian Utilities areas, no contribution is required for the construction of lines; the minimum charge is $5 per month, covering the first 20 k. w. h., and three cents per k. w. h. is collected for each k. w. h. over 20 per month. Mr. Martin estimated the cost of operating an individual farm plant over a period of years at 11 cents per k. w. h. Most owners of these plants transfer to the power lines as soon as they enter the district, as more use can be made of this power. The wiring for a 32-volt unit can be easily adapted to the 110-volt current of the power lines.

He stated that great expense was involved in bringing current to farms as far apart as they are in Alberta—even though the cheapest lightest construction materials have been used. The lowest cost to either company in connecting the farms in the Alberta test areas has been $600 or $700 per mile of line. Yet, there is an average of only about 1.3 customers per mile of rural line in these test areas. If the entire province were served, the average number of customers per mile probably would be even lower than that. This compared with 6.6 customers per mile of rural line in Ontario. There were many isolated farms in Alberta to which it never would be practical to bring power lines. Mr. Martin warned. These farms may make good use of individual plants.

Farmers in the areas served are highly enthusiastic about the power. A comment is, "the yard light alone is worth the cost of my whole electricity bill." Power consumption is soaring as farmers become familiar with its use. At Olds, for example, average weekly consumption per farm was 14.92 kilowatt hours in August, 1945, during the first year of the project. In August, 1946 average weekly consumption was up to 25.9 k. w. h. despite the difficulty of obtaining appliances.

He cited costs of operating various appliances when the current cost two cents per k. w. h. With special meters, he found it cost about 3/4c to milk 100 pound of milk. A one-horsepower motor worked all day for about 30 cents, the cost of one meal for a hired man. A 6.9 cubic foot refrigerator operated for an average of 40 cents a month throughout the year. A large range doing the cooking and heating for a family of four was operated for six months, including winter and summer months, at an average cost of $1.62 per month—that would be cheaper than buying fuel in many cases. Mr. Martin cautioned farmers against buying luxury appliances until they can afford them.

Duchess Loses Valued Jewels

Jewelry to the value of $100,000 were stolen from the Duke and Duchess of Windsor while they were guests at Sunningdale, Surrey, the country home of the Earl of Dudley. About $120,000 worth of the stolen jewels were scattered round the lawn of the estate, but $100,000 worth are gone.

The cat burglar evaded the Scotland Yard agents guarding the Windsors under cover of a heavy mist.

All the jewels were insured and though the Duchess placed the value at $100,000, the London press says that the value was at least $1,000,000. This would make it a top theft in modern robbery. The Duchess' jewels are said to be known the world over, and for that reason will be difficult to dispose of. They include a diamond and platinum tiara complete sets of sapphires, diamonds, rubies, emeralds and so on.

There have been several large scale jewel robberies in fashionable London in recent date but nothing approaching the raid on the Windsor treasures.

B. Halpin to Start Paper in Bassano

After nine and a half years in the oilfields, The Flare, edited by Barney Halpin, will publish its final edition this week. The plant will then be moved to Bassano where Mr. Halpin will re-establish his paper under the name "The Bassano Star."

Mr. Halpin said the move was made necessary as the Black Diamond property upon which the plant was constructed, is owned by an estate, which is now being wound up, and orders to vacate have been received. He expects the first issue of the Bassano Star will appear on Nov. 15th.

Mr. Halpin learned the printing trade at Lacombe under his father's tutelage. The family was in the newspaper business there for 31 years. Immediately prior to going to Black Diamond, Mr. Halpin was editor of the Drumheller Review, now out of business.—Calgary Albertan.

The King Takes The Lead

The third verse of the National Anthem, heretofore virtually unused, which His Majesty the King directed to be sung at the recent service in London for intercession for the United Nations, is in striking contrast to the seldom-sung second verse. And the difference in spirit is particularly significant at this time when the nations again are assembling in an attempt to work out a formula for lasting peace.

Here is the third verse:
"Nor on this land alone—
But be God's mercies known
From shore to shore.
Lord, make the nations see
That men should brothers be
And from one family
The wide world o'er."

And the following is the second verse:
"O Lord our God arise,
Scatter our enemies
And make them fall.
Confound their politics,
Frustrate their knavish tricks
On Thee our hopes we fix
God save us all."

It would be a fine thing if this substitution were to become a permanent arrangement. We never have liked that second verse. In time of war, the first three lines would be in keeping with the popular sentiment. But the lines "confound their politics, frustrate their knavish tricks" sounds more like a line out of Gilbert and Sullivan than the National Anthem.

The international sentiment of the third verse, and the prayer that "men should brothers be," is in keeping with the hopes of Christian nations who earnestly are seeking peace.—Calgary Albertan.

Concessions On Farm Income

A number of proposals were made to the Dominion Government by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, respecting farm income and income tax. Several of the proposals announced in the Commons last June, embody the recommendations made by C.F.A.

One of the most important is the provision that allow farmers and fishermen to average their income tax over a period of three years. This will be a "moving" average that is, the three year period will be moved along with each succeeding year. The benefits of this provision will not become apparent until 1948, when the farmers will make their first three year average calculation. It means that a farmer should make out his income tax returns regardless of his net profit or loss. Crop failure may mean no profit in two of the three years. The returns of the third year which may be a bumper, can be averaged with the two preceding years before the income is taxable.

The second provision of importance is that in which a working wife is allowed an income exemption of $250.00 on income earned by herself, in addition to the married exemption of $1,500 on the husband's income.

Another provision is that when there has been a delay of several years in checking and completing income tax returns, interest on amounts found due and payable after checking will not be collected for a longer period than twenty months. This is even better than the Federation's request for a two year limit.

A fourth provision provides for the establishment of a Board of appeal where claims against assessment of income tax in the year of 1946 and in subsequent years may be heard.

The removal of excess profits tax from a farmer who is sole proprietor of his farm and the increase of exemptions from $1,200 to $1,500 for married couples and $660 to $750 for single persons will be of benefit.

There is no doubt that the Canadian Federation of Agriculture was instrumental in gaining these concessions. With regard to the three year moving average it is now up to the individual to make his returns regularly so that full information is available for averaging his income.

Brit. Parcels Now 20 Pounds

The post office department has announced the weight limit for gift and food parcels addressed to the United Kingdom has been lifted from the wartime restriction of 11 pounds to the normal maximum weight of 20 pounds.

Parcels also no longer are restricted to one a month and there will be no limit on the quantity of food in general or of any one food-stuff in particular which may be included in a gift parcel weighing up to the 20-pound limit.

The announcement said the parcels must be unsolicited bona-fide gifts and must not be imported into Britain as merchandise or for sale. Each parcel must be clearly marked with the word "gift."

The concessions do not apply to parcels containing arms and ammunition, plumage, dangerous drugs or other articles subject to special prohibition and restriction. They also do not relieve goods from liability of any appropriate customs duty or purchase tax on arrival in Britain.
